PROF. DECLARES MOON IS ATTACHED TO THE EARTH

(By Associated Press.)
BERKELEY, June 25.—That he had mathematically proved the discovery that the moon was a planet captured by the earth from space, and not a detached portion of our globe, was the announcement made tonight by Professor T. J. J. See, astronomer in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island in a report to the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

TARIFF SCHEDULE ARE PRACTICALLY SETTLED BY SENATE

DUTY ON CRUDE OIL IS VOTED DOWN BY A NARROW MARGIN.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 25.—When the senate adjourned at 7 tonight Senator Aldrich predicted that by tomorrow night all the tariff schedules would be out of the way leaving the senate free to begin consideration of the corporation and income tax amendments. Penrose presented an amendment fixing a duty of one-half a cent a gallon on crude oil. After considerable debate it was defeated by a vote of 34 to 40. During the discussion of the oil amendment Flint expressed the opinion that the producers of California would be driven out of business if the duty on oil wasn't levied. Cummins opposed the amendment, saying he didn't believe the producers of this country had anything to fear from Mexican producers. "The Standard Oil company is well served with this duty," he said, "because there is no suggestion and intention to repeat the drawback clause by which the secretary of state permitted import oil, then upon exporting it to have a rebate of duty."

ARTHUR HEINZE FOUND GUILTY BY A JURY

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 25.—Arthur P. Heinze, one of the brothers whose banking and copper operations have been the subject of investigation since the collapse of their copper pool was found guilty tonight by a jury in the United States circuit court of corruptly impeding justice by their connection with the disappearance of the United Copper company's books. Sentence was suspended until October 11.

CALKINS PLANT IS SOLD TO PAY OFF DEBTS

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—At the public sale of the various publications of the Calkins Newspaper syndicate, the Truckee Republican was sold to Walter Edorn for $2005. The sale of the Fresno Herald was postponed until July 9th. Commissioner in Bankruptcy Green, who ordered a sale of the majority of the stock in the Sacramento Publishing company, which publishes the Sacramento Union, deferred the matter until Tuesday when the Paris-London American bank will be given an opportunity to establish a lien which it claims to have on the plant of the Sacramento paper.

CONCRETE ARRIVES FOR THE EXTENSION MILL

A carload of concrete has arrived to be used in the construction of the new Tonopah Extension mill. Next week two more carloads will reach Tonopah and work on the building proper will commence. The company expects to have the mill in operation by the first of the year. The erection of the mill means a great saving to the company, occasioned by the treating of its ore upon the ground. This fact has been demonstrated by the other companies operating here.

Pursuit of Roberts, the Assassin, Is Attended by Thrillingly Picturesque Surroundings

JENKS CASE WILL GO TO THE JURY TODAY

The Jenks case is drawing to a close. Yesterday afternoon was spent in hearing evidence, while the night session was taken up by the argument of counsel for the plaintiff. P. M. Bowler, Jr., occupied nearly four hours in his argument in behalf of Jenks after which the court declared a recess until this morning. Meanwhile the jury is locked up, in charge of the sheriff. Upon the convening of court this morning, counsel for the defendant bank, Hugh H. Brown and Wm. Pittman, will address the jury. The judge's instructions will follow and the case will likely reach the jury by this afternoon.

The court room was crowded last evening when Mr. Bowler began his argument. It was perhaps the most scathing denunciation of bankers and the methods employed in their business that was ever heard in a court-room in this state.

ONE KILLED IN RAILROAD WRECK

(By Associated Press.)
CHICO, June 25.—Brakeman E. D. Amos was killed and Engineer J. B. Nesbit probably fatally injured in a wreck on the Butte county railroad this afternoon near Paradise. The train was descending a steep grade when the air brakes failed to hold, and ran away for two miles and a half. Twenty-seven cars were derailed. The wreckage caught fire and is still burning despite the efforts of fifty men to extinguish the flames.

POWER IS ON.
Last evening the power which supplies Tonopah was turned on about 6 o'clock. It was at first announced that there would be no juice until Sunday morning, but the damage to the plant at Bishop creek, occasioned by a heavy storm was not as serious as was at first thought. The company was complimented on all sides because of the rapid manner in which it repaired its system.

Lame Bob Eastman Sends Bullet Crashing Through His Guilty Heart When Caught

(By Associated Press.)
ST. MICHAELS (Md.), June 25.—No pursuit of an accused assassin was ever attended by more thrillingly picturesque surroundings than that which ended in the death early today of "Lame Bob" Eastman, the supposed slayer of Mrs. Edith May Woodill of Los Angeles. Eastman was known during his short residence here as Emmet E. Roberts, having transposed his name from Robert Emmet Eastman. He suicided rather than surrender. Eastman disappeared Wednesday night following the discovery and identification of Mrs. Woodill's body. Suspicion pointed to him from the first as was the last seen with the girl. Eastman endeavored to leave McDaniel Wednesday, but was warned he had better remain to refute the charges against him. Saying he could be found at his bungalow when wanted, Eastman disappeared. The missing skiff from the home of a neighbor told the story of the flight.

A sheriff's posse vainly searched for him all day Thursday. Late last night John McQuay, who lives on Harris creek, one of the estuaries of Chesapeake Bay, four miles from McDaniel, heard the splash of oars far out on the black waters. Receiving no answers to his hails, McQuay telephoned for help. A posse was organized and soon passed the fugitive. Not being sure the men in the other boat were really on his trail, Eastman continued up stream until he reached a point off the home of Colonel Thompson, foster father of the girl for whose death he was sought. As he passed, the posse hidden in the grass on the shore, twice called upon Eastman to surrender. In reply Eastman shot himself through the heart. Eastman had watched the developments of the murder with which he was charged with a smile on his face. All morning of the Monday after the crime he sat in the telephone office of McDaniel. In the afternoon he went to Baltimore to mail a letter and returned Tuesday night. He was in the office Wednesday afternoon when he heard George Taylor receive a telephone message announcing the finding of the body. Eastman claimed to be a newspaper man and asked Taylor to get him a team so that he could get the story.

Reaching St. Michaels he watched the proceedings and didn't leave until the body was identified. Returning to McDaniel he ordered a ticket for Baltimore. Meantime Constable Mortimer telephoned and stated that as he was a stranger he might know something. Eastman said: "Oh, if there's any suspicion about me, I'll remain. Never saw this woman." The letter mailed by Eastman at Baltimore and received by Miss Carrie Thompson, foster sister of the murdered girl, was one of the incidents that seemed to connect the dead man most closely with the crime. The letter written by Mrs. Woodill was mailed several days after her death. Whether or not it was written by Mrs. Woodill to shield her visit to Eastman's bungalow or whether the man had some intent in his mind and caused her to write a letter to cause a delay in the search for her body, may never be known. The letter was intended to give the impression that Mrs. Woodill was in Baltimore. Colonel Charles Thompson of McDaniel, foster father of the murdered girl, is one of the most pitiable figures in the tragedy. Yesterday he had the remains laid in their last resting place beside the graves of his wife and son. Who were the child's parents remains unsolved. Mrs. Thompson was given the child by a street car conductor when she was but three years old. Thompson said she didn't belong to the car man, and did not know where or how he got her. Mrs. Woodill was formerly the wife of Dr. Caswell or Crosswell, but the union was soon annulled.

MEXICAN IS HAVING PRELIMINARY HEARING

The preliminary hearing of Francisco Oihao is in all likelihood now well under way at Rhyolite. Under Sheriff Vall Pittman departed yesterday morning for the southern camp to be in attendance upon the hearing, which was scheduled to take place some time since, but which had to be postponed because there were certain witnesses living at a considerable distance from Rhyolite whom the prosecution desired to have in attendance.

The district attorney's office is represented by an attorney of Rhyolite, who has been appointed a deputy. The evidence connecting the Mexican with the crime, while purely circumstantial, is said by the officials to be very strong against him.

DOES NOT APPROVE OF TRIAL MARRIAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—That the trial marriage contract is contrary to public policy was the decision of Superior Judge Mogan, in the case of Margaret McGrath against Policeman C. M. Grush. Miss McGrath sued Grush for $150 under an alleged trial marriage contract entered into by the couple, which Grush was to pay in the event they separated without three months' notice being given by him. After living with the woman a year, Grush left her and married another woman. He claimed to have paid the $150.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN IS DISCOVERED

ABERDEEN (S. D.), June 25.—An attempt to wreck the Milwaukee passenger train just north of Redfield, South Dakota, was made last night. A passing farmer found that a section of the track had been blown out. He flagged the passenger train and prevented an accident. The motive is supposed to have been robbery.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 25.—As a result of the heat today there were at least seven deaths in the city proper and one at Jersey City. There were two deaths at Providence and at New Bedford. The maximum temperature 6 o'clock a twenty-six mile gale sprang up bringing with it a downpour of rain. In less than thirty minutes the mercury dropped to 69 degrees.

IMPRISONMENT OF SON CAUSES FATHER TO LOSE HIS MIND

(By Associated Press.)
MARYSVILLE, June 25.—Claudinas, who was given his liberty two weeks ago, from imprisonment in San Quentin for the alleged dynamiting of the home of James Gallagher in Oakland several months ago, was adjudged insane at Oroville today, and sent to the Napa asylum. Worry over the imprisonment of his son is believed to have caused his mind to be weakened.

FOREIGN LABOR TO BE TAKEN FROM COAST

HONOLULU BOARD OF EMIGRATION WILL RECALL SPAN- IARDS AND PORTO RICANS

(By Associated Press.)
HONOLULU, June 25.—The territorial board of emigration has decided to bring back here 200 Spaniards and Porto Ricans stranded in San Francisco, and reported to be destitute. The stranded laborers were imported about a year ago from Europe and Porto Rico to work on sugar plantations in the islands. Becoming dissatisfied they left the islands and went to the coast where they charged they were brought to Hawaii through false pretenses. On the other hand the planters declare the men were lured to the Pacific coast, hoping to secure higher wages there.

COLONEL MAXSON HAS FAITH IN NEW EL DORADO

Colonel H. B. Maxson returned yesterday from Ellendale. His opinion of Ellendale, while conservative, is flattering. He says the district bears all the indications of becoming one of the leaders of the state. His inspection of the section was in no wise a superficial one. He spent his time covering the district thoroughly and his examination proves to him that the values are disseminated over a large area, which will make of Ellendale and the country in which it is located an area embracing several good properties. The Colonel will depart this morning for Manhattan, where he will spend several days looking over the northern camp. Mr. Maxson was accompanied by N. B. Phillips, a mining engineer of the latter camp.

Mr. Maxson is probably as well acquainted with Nevada and perhaps more so than any other man in it. He has been in every nook and corner thereof, having been engaged in the engineering business in nearly every quarter of the sagebrush state. During his many travels he has taken the elevations, the collection of which makes interesting and valuable data. During his recent visit to this section he has taken the pains to advise himself as to the altitudes, a list of which follows:

Ellendale	6375
Ellendale Wash	5950
Summit above McKinney's Tanks	6300
McKinney's Tanks	6225
R. R. Valley Wash	5650
Junction Manhattan road	5700
Tonopah Summit	6150
Mizpah Hotel	6050

Rush Is on to George's Canyon

Long-Kept Secret of Mineral Wealth Is out and Men Are Flocking to the New Diggings That Are Said to be Promising

While the Cliffords and Nays were quietly but energetically perfecting titles with the view of precluding all possibility of future litigation over their phenomenally rich and vast holdings at Salsbury Wash, H. J. Wildgrube, Messrs. Stimler, Marsh and others were staking and developing promising ground at George's canyon, twenty miles southwest. As early as January it was rumored that several strikes had been made in the vicinity of the latter, but the Clifford excitement was on at the time, deep snow covered the hills, and as further reports failed to follow, George's canyon, now Fresno mining district, was forgotten. Wildgrube and others had gold all right, but threatened lawsuits had the same effect on them at that late day as it had on the Cliffords and Nays in the beginning, and, after the latter, the former patterned their mode of procedure.

The excitement at Ellendale, how-

MANHATTAN PLACERS ARE CERTAIN TO MAKE GOOD

Malcolm Macdonald returned from Manhattan yesterday, whither he went to inspect operations in the different placer holdings in that camp. Mr. Macdonald stated to a representative of the Bonanza that there were at this time 104 shafts being operated in the placer belt. He made a careful examination of nearly all of them and says for the most part they all have excellent showings. He further states that if any camp ever made good, Manhattan certainly would. He looks for big things to happen in that locality before very long.

ever, served to draw the locators of George's canyon out of their solitude and secrecy; many prospectors revived the old rumor and dropped in and staked all the adjoining and surrounding pine-clad hills. Many mining men are now going in both from Ellendale and Tonopah, and all indications point to the establishment at Fresno of a substantial mining camp.

H. J. Wildgrube first located in the canyon three years ago; but it was less than six months back when he made the discovery now responsible for the interest manifested in that section. Claim seekers since have piled against him, and the country is thoroughly and scientifically staked.

Wildgrube's main group covers an immense porphyry dyke, massive, and seemingly as solid and substantial as the "Rock of Gibraltar." The dyke trends practically east and west, and in itself constitutes an entire mountain ridge. The porphyry is extremely heavy, somewhat siliceous, and universally stained by iron. Free gold is found, and has been uncovered in quantity at a dozen points along the dyke, in northeast and southeast fractures, and occurs in a mixture of quartz and porphyry and hematite. In the softer material the sulphides have completely oxidized, but in the true quartz the sulphides are intact, though assay returns run about the same. The fissures vary in width from a few inches to six feet, and are easily traced for hundreds of feet. In places it is apparent that the porphyry was too massive for the eruptive forces, and the gold-bearing solutions merely reached and stained the surface without depositing much silica, but made it possible for the prospector to follow the line of fracture across the dyke by the iron stains left on and running over the walls, and the slight displacement of the dyke rocks. These

SITUATION IN PERSIA IS GROWING SERIOUS

(By Associated Press.)
ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—The situation in Persia is regarded as serious. It is possible a separate column will be sent from Caucasus to Teheran as the troops at Tabriz cannot be spared. Special dispatches from Tabriz say that the Russians are arresting many people, searching their houses and confiscating their arms.

OLD MERCHANTS HOTEL THOROUGHLY RENOVATED

For the past several weeks the old Merchants hotel in this city has been undergoing extensive repairs both inside and out. The famous hostelry is now in tip-top shape and will be thrown open to the public on or about the first of July under the proprietorship of Mrs. M. D. Maden, formerly of Manhattan. Under the new order of things the establishment will be called the "Hotel Manhattan," and promises to come in for its share of the public patronage.

displacement areas show free gold in the hematite.

Wherever holes have been sunk, mainly through location work, the fissures rapidly widen with depth as the ore increases in value. At several points, blotches of gold can be searched out in the walls. At one place a tunnel was driven on a knife-blade streak, and at a depth of fifteen feet under ground eight inches of high grade ore are exposed. Wildgrube has had assays from $2 to $120 in gold from ores taken over a wide area, and pannings denoting values as high as $500 and $1000 frequently have been secured.

The other discoveries in the new district have been made in open ground, away from dykes, the ores quartz, are running well in gold and silver. Some placer gold has been found, and it is reported that leasers have signed for the main gulch. Wood and water are abundant, and every condition is right for economical and effective mining.

WESTON IS HITTING TRAIL THROUGH NEVADA

(By Associated Press.)
OGDEN, June 25.—Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, arrived in Halleck, Nevada, 207.8 miles from Ogden, at 12:30 today. He left Halleck at 11:30 tonight and expects to keep walking until noon tomorrow.

CHOLERA KILLS MANY.

(By Associated Press.)
ST. PETERSBURG, June 24.—Ninety-nine new cases of cholera and forty suspected cases were taken in to the municipal hospital during the twenty-four hours ending at noon today. There were thirty-four deaths.
